Sismatico (UK) Ltd

To Whom it may concern

It is unusual for me to give a written reference such as this however, given the benefits delivered; I am prepared to make an exception.

Sismatico were given the challenge to solve some long term problems on one of our high speed air conveyors 12 months ago. They delivered an innovative solution, which saw our line efficiency climb to a monthly average of 98.89% .

We are currently using them to upgrade our Zechetti airveyor to handle three new bottles for Coca-Cola, which has included modifications to the neck and side guides, and the control system. At this early stage there appears to be another significant improvement in bottle handling and control.

We are soon to embark on another project with Sismatico which again involves a complete redesign of a Ling airveyor to handle three new bottle designs for Coca-Cola. I am confident that they will deliver another high quality, highly efficient solution.

I have been impressed with the conduct and professional manner of the onsite teams and their ability to work in safe manner without supervision. The quality of the engineering is also very high.

We will continue to use Sismatico as our preferred partner for Airveyor support for the foreseeable future, because they deliver cost effective, efficient projects, on time and budget, that work.
